Pedestrian Safety

Being a pedestrian can be risky business. According to the National Traffic Safety Administration, a pedestrian is injured in a traffic related collision on average every seven minutes. Below are a few simple guidelines that may help promote an increased level of awareness for pedestrians.

Pedestrians:

◊ Remember the law! Pedestrians should cross at marked crosswalks and obey ALL traffic control devices. Unless specifically directed by a traffic control device, pedestrians should not cross diagonally in an intersection and are subject to a fine.

◊ Wear Bright Clothing. Remember that drivers may have difficulty seeing you - Especially in the dark.

◊ Watch for Obstructions. Be particularly cautious when stepping out from behind parked cars, poles, and buildings that may hide you from a driver’s sight.

◊ Stop and Look Both Ways Before Crossing the Street. Never run into the street.

◊ Walk Facing Traffic.

Drivers:

◊ Remember to Yield! Pedestrians have the legal right of way in all intersections, whether marked or not.

◊ Remain Alert. With all of the distractions inside your car, remember to pay close attention to the pedestrians around you.

◊ Right Turns. Use caution when approaching unmarked intersections.

◊ Obey school zone traffic laws!
